

I think that no group has the right to call someone unsolicited just because they did business in the past. My wife buys milk every week. Does that mean the supermarket where it was purchased has a right to call me ? How about the milk supplier?

People have a right to privacy. Unsolicited phone calls at night or at anytime are wrong and a violation of one's privacy.

It's that simple.